CLASS HISTORY

On September 22, 1943, our class entered SHAW UNIVERSITY to start on the long, hard journey to higher education. Unaware of the many obstacles to be encountered, we started this trip with joyous plans for four years of entertainment interspersed with a few hours of classwork. Our general idea of college was "just another high school" with the addition of dormitory life. Many changes were to take place in our group of ambitious youths, however, before the trip was finally completed.

The first days of our college life were spent, for the most part, in getting acquainted with our roommates, learning the different buildings on the campus, and learning the new rules to which we would be subjected during our stay at college. The upperclassmen were most willing to help us and, within a little while, we began to feel at home in our new abode. The next days, however, were quite different for, by this time, most of us were suffering from extreme cases of nostalgia, but we managed to go through the line of registration and to fill in the yellow cards which were to play such a vital part in moulding our future.

Soon classes began and we realized that our carefree, idle days were over. We also learned that failure is easier to achieve than is success. Several of the students were unable to withstand this obstacle and dropped along the wayside, leaving the most ambitious ones to travel farther.

As we settled down to study, we looked forward to the holidays. We were anxious to see the Christmas holidays for they would mean the first time that many of us would be going home since we came. The holidays passed and then what happened? See, but it was time for what the upperclassmen called "exams". We had been warned of these at the beginning but did not take heed; so now, in a few days, we had to cram, push and pack what we should have gathered all of the way along. For once the dormitories were quiet and we were behind closed doors, coming out only to go to the library or dining hall. Four days of "exams" (what a headache!) and at last they were over. Those of us who lived close by went home between semesters.

Representing our class on the Semester Honor Roll were: Dorman Avery, Lorena Breeze (McBroom), Dorette Daniels, Thomas Entzminger, Gwendolyn Ligon, Jesse Loftin, John Manley, Dorothy Powell, Edith Prunty, Virginia Raiford and Donnie Williamson.

We began the second semester a little more seriously than we did the first. Due to the war there was no football. However, we participated in basketball. On the men's team we were represented by Eugene Turner and Thomas Entzminger; on the women's team by Doretha Daniels, Mozelle Alston, Rina Harris, Annie Hilliard, Janie Walker and Jessie Johnson.

Another week of exams ended our first mile of the way. We had become attached to each other, so with tears in our eyes, dried only by the thought of our returning in the Fall, we parted.

In the Fall of '45 we registered as juniors, looking forward to the junior-senior prom, which occupied most of our time during the spring.

Time came for election of the president of the Student Body and did we feel honored when one of our own classmates, Miss Dorette Daniels, the first woman to hold that position, was elected and accepted readily.

My, but how time flew and here we were beginning the last mile of the journey. The old ship which had been sailing through rugged as well as calm waters had sighted land and will soon anchor in the harbor of success. Those of us who have withstood the storm feel proud to know that we have just about completed our journey. For some of us it means the end of our school work; for others it means just a step to higher education, but, whatever our lot, we fear no trail and will continue to move on.

Now, as we stand on the threshold, looking back over our four years which have been pleasurable and painful, we say farewell to our teachers, classmates and friends.

To our Teachers: You have guided and moulded us and we sincerely hope that you feel that you have not labored in vain.

To our Classmates: The joys we have shared will linger in our memories to remind us of our stay here.

To our Friends: Our chain shall not be broken, but strengthened.

So with our motto in mind: "The timber lies before us, let us build", we now face the world, and the history of the Class of 1947 goes down on record. Yet for us it is only the beginning and not the end.

CLASS POEM

"Alma Mater", the Mother of us all, whom we'll always obey,
Eagerly have we waited and worked four years for this day.
It has been a steady, but pleasant toil we can say.
Now that it is here, our hearts are filled with dismay.

We love you, "Alma Mater, Dear".
Memories of you always will linger near.
Your campus, halls, faculty and staff have given us so much cheer
That we are reluctant to leave; but with the courage that you have given us to be brave and stout-hearted
To our duties we go without fear.

It never can be farewell to you;
Never can we forget you; how can we?
We are certain the skies will not always be blue,
But for you, your portals we shall forever see.

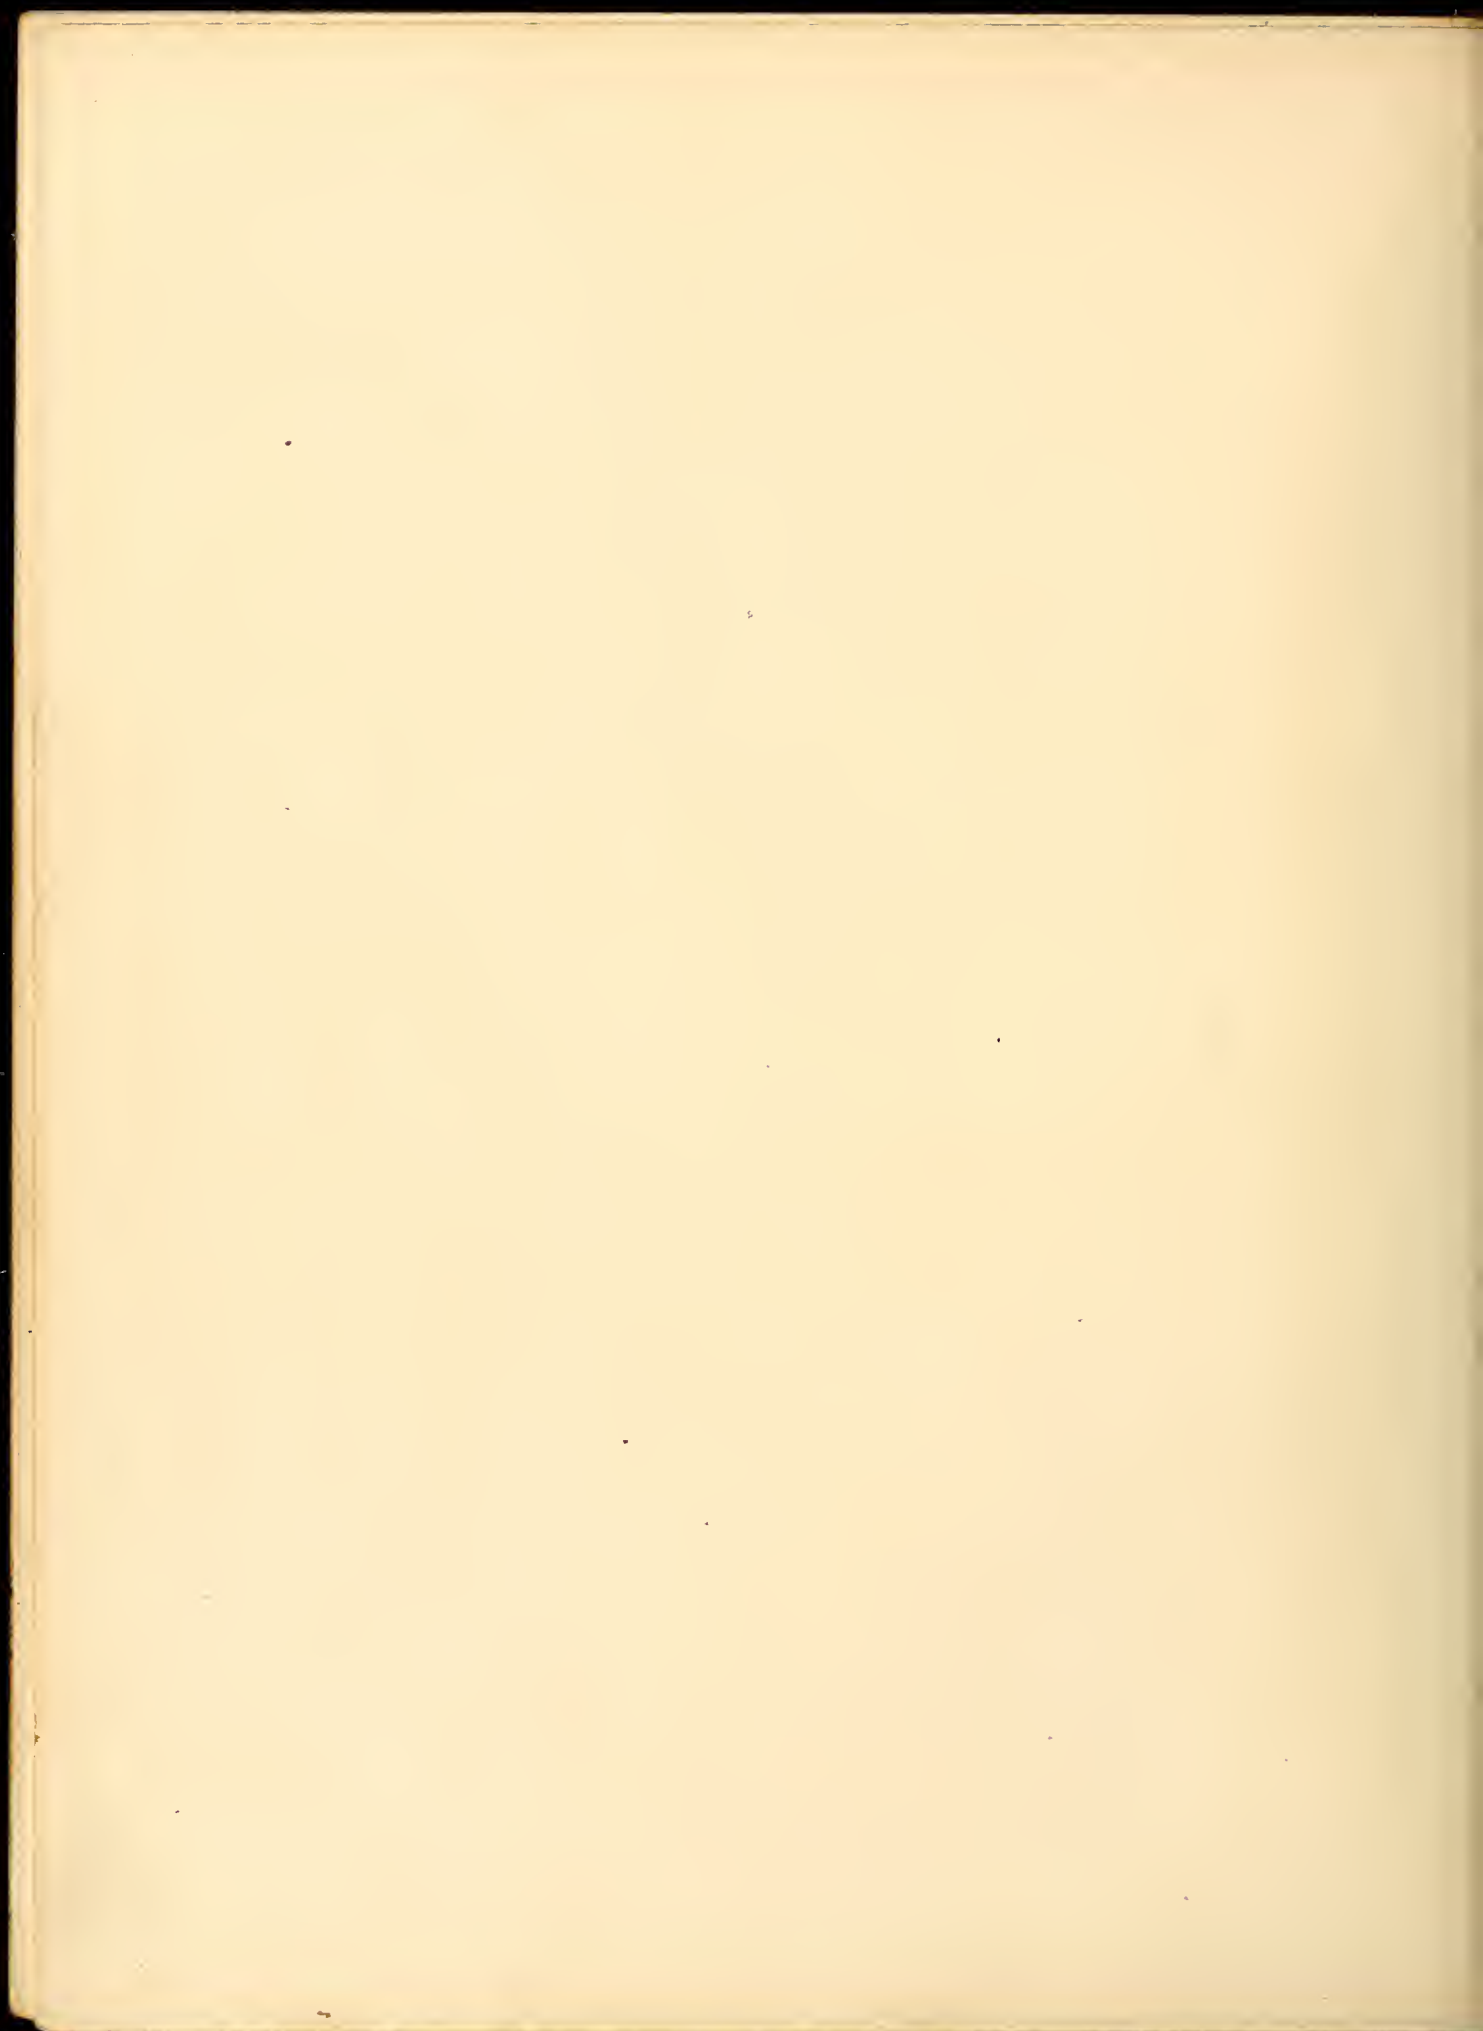

When shadows of sorrow have all passed away
When our youth has been stolen by patches of gray,
At the end of a perfect day;
May we recall the sweet memories of yesterday?
Dear Lord, we pray.

CLASS SONG

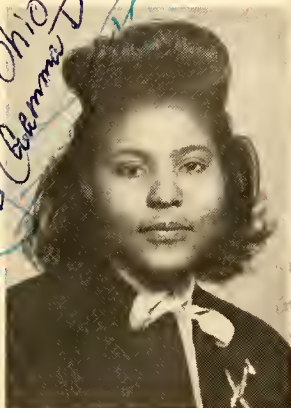

To you, Alma Mater, the school of our hearts,
We pledge Thee our loyalty true,
For the work of Thy teaching and Thy loving care,
Which has taught us to know and to do.
Here within Thy walls, four years we have toiled,
For the knowledge that we have obtained,
We will love you forever and ever shall prove,
You alone in our hearts will e'er rule.

As your dear sons and daughters go out from Thy walls,
Your true Spirit shall with us remain,
For Your Name we shall praise and Your Banner we'll raise,
'Tis Your Glory we'll always sustain.
Alma Mater, may you forever long stand
Crowned with honor as none in the land,
As we go from Thy Portals we'll ever be true,
Dear "Shaw U," we bid Thee adieu.

LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT

We, the Senior Class at Shaw University, 1947, being in full possession of our mental faculties and free from force, do hereby devise, will bequeath and convey our various schoolday possessions to the persons hereinafter mentioned, to be held by them in full possession throughout the length of their connection with Shaw University.

ARTICLE I

To the kindly Citizens of Raleigh, we leave a bountiful vote of appreciation for the many courtesies bestowed upon us during our stay in this city.

ARTICLE II

To the Board of Trustees, the President and the Business Manager of this great institution, we will a prayer for success in their untiring efforts to renovate the plant into a state of adequacy for the ever-increasing student body.

ARTICLE III

To the Dean of Women, we bequeath the store of "extra" patience and strength which she so often has to use and which anyone would need in an attempt to "mother" her brood of five hundred daughters.

ARTICLE IV

To the Dean of Men we devise an office with receptionists in Tupper Hall.

ARTICLE V

To the entire Faculty and Staff of Shaw University we leave a vote of heartfelt thanks for their ever-present aid in our efforts to learn to live.

ARTICLE VI

To the Junior, Sophomore and Freshman Classes we will an equal number of the numerous enjoyments that we have had beside the use of the "up-to-date" gymnasium when it is completed.

ARTICLE VII

1. To Margaret Harrell, Eleanor Stokes bequeaths two of her engagement rings to add to her collection.

2. Lois Brown wills her ability to get to class on time to Ernestine Boyd.

3. LaVerne Jackson wills her dancing ability and Johnny Goodrich to the fairer sex in the future Freshman Class.

4. Thelma Knight conveys Edmond Cheek to Gloria Payne so that she will not get too lonesome for Donald Shaw.

5. The job as assistant to the Choir Director goes to Theophera Harris from Ida Boykins.

6. "Dody" Daniels leaves three nickels to Thelma Shaw so that she can use the telephone as many times during the day as "Dody" did.

7. Anne Boone wills all of her love for Allen Crooms to Geraldine Turner wishing her more success with him than Anne had.

8. Gwendolyn Grady wills her hair to Gertrude Everette.

9. Inez McAllister and Elberta Hunter leave their size to Irma Bullock.

10. To her homies, Willascene Buchanan and Annie Lindsay, Annie Hilliard wills her athletic ability.

11. Hilda Black leaves her seat in the second soprano section in the Choir to Gloria Payne.

12. L. Gertrude Faulkner and Margaret E. Teele will their loyal friendship and charming optimistic personalities to Helen Jean Harrison and Pensicola Alexander.

13. Hellene Day leaves her place in the Infirmary to Mary Rich.

14. Hazel Ruby Long leaves here telephone calls to Annie Boney so that Annie may become better acquainted with William Powers.

15. To Elnora Bryant, Margaret Thorpe leaves her roommate, Mary L. Hogan, in the hope that they can get along.

16. Josephine Zollicoffer wills to Elsie Teele her patience in dealing with people.

17. Margaret Kemmer wills her quietness and pleasing personality to Gladys Almond so she will not have "nose trouble."

18. Nefferritte Fisher leaves her leisure time to go to sleep in the afternoons to Milta Davis.

19. Mary Britt leaves her ability to dress well to Sarah Darden who also gives her competition with the Blah-blah.

20. Helen LaJune Satterwhite wills her ability to be happy without a "steady beau" to Senora Howell.

21. Sylvester Price wills everything he is, everything he was and everything he hopes to be to Richard Harvey.

22. Bettye Alston leaves to Mary Speller her ability to sew.

23. Rubye Nelson leaves her ability to speak French fluently to Hazel Nelson in order to converse with her in the presence of Grady Nelson, Jr.

24. Mary Ashley wills her sense of humor and glamorous upsweeps to Louisa Boone.

25. Robena Bradley, Thelma Knight and Georgia Bishop wish to leave to Margaret Boone, Madie Kearney and Margaret Harrell their ability to produce a room-cafeteria with well-rounded menus instead of the usual weiner suppers of the latter.

26. Janie Ruth Walker leaves her quietness to Flora Dickerson and Arimenthis Foriest.

27. Rosa L. Price leaves her charming personality to Dora Houser.

28. Ulisha George wills her ability to keep quiet on all occasions to Ledonia Smith.

29. Kitty Morton wills to Dorothy Archie her ability to eat chocolate sundaes.

30. John Williams leaves "Jazz at the Philharmonic" to Shade Conner.

31. Mamie Smith wills her radicalism to LaNelle Shields.

32. Rosetta Abrams wills her conservative air to Elnora Bryant.

33. Lillian White leaves her petiteness and ability to talk so much to Annie Lou Lindsay.

34. Janie Lee leaves her modesty to Johnsie Broadway.

35. Sarah Watkins leaves her dignity to Cassie Davis and her height to Nellie Crowe.

36. Donnie Williamson wills her "Polly-anic Faith" to Barbara French.

37. Mary E. Gannaway wills her ability to read French fluently to Inez Cogdell.

38. Ida Weatherford wills her sedate and quiet ways to Queen Blackwell.

39. Bernestine Walker wills her place on the tennis court to Ellen Durham.

40. Napoleon Lewis leaves his seat in all of the Romance Language classes to James Bridgers.

41. To James Pope, John Debnam wills his ability to make a flated fifth in the beginning and at the end of "Stardust".

42. Beatrice Davis wills her jovial personality to Dorothy Swinson.

43. Lucille Brown leaves her place in the Dining Hall to Irma Bullock.

44. Mary Stephens wills her variety of hairstyles to Bernice Wright.

45. Hortense Gilmore leaves her ability to sing solos with feeling to Pensicola Alexander.

46. Evelyn Wright wills her pleasing personality to Virginia D. Hardy.

We do hereby charge the Junior class to execute our last will and testament.

PROPHECY—CLASS OF '47

Mae Stephens, Sylvester Price and Jackie Robinson have been working steadily since 1947 on several elements, human and un-human, wise and otherwise, which may or may not change the philosophy or habitat of the world. Having acquired a great amount of money they decided to tour the world and gather data and do research, especially on their classmates, whom, after all, they knew better than they do anyone else. Their research will concern success and failure and its effects on the various human beings. To make the tour a success the group had to be a little more versatile so they picked up Bynum Crews and John Williams, who, by this time were penniless old men (alias social workers) in Arizona where they had gone for their health; and "Dody" Daniels in Reno where she had just secured her fourth divorce after finishing her latest picture "He Broke My Heart". Here they chartered a plane piloted by Eugene Logan who had a crew of five—Raphael Carlton, co-pilot; Jessie Johnson, navigator; Chester Sutton, mechanic; and Vera Boyd, hostess.

From Reno we went to Hollywood and talked with many friends—John Wilson Fleming, famous hairstylist and his model Gertrude Faulkner; John Baldwin, another Alan Ladd; Lillie Simons, designer of MGM stage scenery; and LaJune Satterwhite, singing sensation of Ciro's.

Just out of Hollywood the plane had engine trouble and we were forced to land on a vast expanse of plains. Getting out of the plane, we realized that we were on a pigeon farm. We crossed the well-tended tract of land and came to a farmhouse where, to our surprise, there stood Edith Wise and Irene Vines in the doorway—the owners and managers of this lovely place.

Upon crossing the Pacific we saw a beautiful ship below on whose side we read "U.S.S.—Shaw". Being curious graduates of '47, this indeed was enough to make us all homesick. In a few minutes we learned by radio that the ship was under the command of Admiral Josephine Zollicoffer and that aboard the ship were Mary Hardy and Cleo Hales on the way back to the States to visit their parents. (They are married to Russian Colonels.) Also aboard the ship was a trunk of oriental jewels being smuggled by Hazel Long Sorrell.

We landed in England and there looked up Hortense Gilmore, Prima Donna of Metropolitan Opera, and her manager, Peter R. Brown, who were touring Europe; Olivia Cheek, who was getting her Ph.D. at the University of Oxford; and Ida Boykins, who was playing the piano in Richard Maxwell's "Red Hot Supper Club" there.

When we reached France we landed at "Gay Paris" and womenlike Dody and Mae had to buy hats so they looked up the swankiest little millinery shop there which was under the management of Laura Perry, Jeannette E. Powe and J. Ruth Powe. From there we went on a sight-seeing tour and crossed a bridge under partial construction by two of the world's leading electrical engineers, Donnie Mae Williamson and Ruby Marsh. Incidentally, this bridge was named Bradley Bridge in honor of Robena Bradley's great discovery of a cure for "Shaw bedrithis" (sleeping sickness).

After a few hours' flight we reached Switzerland where Eunice Cumbo, Dorothy Lilly, Clementine Lassiter, Eva Merritt and Lois Brown were skiing from the great Alps Mountains.

In a few hours we found ourselves in Holland. While cruising through the industrial district, we saw a sign on a shop with the following inscription: "Power's Shoe Makers". Curious as usual, we stopped, walked in, and saw William Powers, the owner, and his lovely wife and private secretary, Katherine Morton. He has several assistants: Marvin Smith, Conorah Watson, Beulah Reavis, Gladys Turner and Margaret Thorpe, all of whom were busy making wooden shoes. Here we were told that Lillian White had a tulip nursery five miles out. We just had to see Lillian, so drove out to find her standing between rows and rows of tulips, yelling like mad to her business pardner, Delma Gallop Sanders.

While reading a Russian newspaper in Switzerland, Bynum saw on the advertisement page that LaVerne Jackson was being featured at Hilda Black's "Nitory" as star dancer with Mozelle Alston, Mary Lillie Ashley and Della Brown, the other members of the chorus line. Napoleon Lewis and his French musicians were playing a seven-night stand there.

Only two more stops abroad and our over-sea tour would be completed. One day later we landed in China in search of a place to sleep and stopped at a hotel owned by Mildred Jackson Sadler. Behind the desk sat a familiar-looking little lady—none other than Wessa Wray Wilkins. We went to the Dining Room and talked with the waitresses: Etta Sessoms, Paulette Saint-Fort and Martha Shepard.

We realized now that our over-sea tour truly had to come to an end in twenty-four hours. Jackie flipped a coin to determine our next move. " 'Twas heads so to Japan we went! Three hours later we were hailing a taxi (coolie there). Only one carriage was in sight and the owner seemed very lazy and reluctant about driving us. Finally, when we were able to arouse him, we saw whom this little hard-boiled man was. Yes, James Murray. We just had to visit the emperor's mansion and were cruelly knocked off our feet when we saw sitting before all those "sons of the Rising Sun" our dear classmate, George Debnam, bedecked in all bright colors of the Rising Sun. Of course he had taken all of the beauties of Shaw's campus to keep this expensive place in perfect peace and harmony—Mamie Smith, Alice Wright, Lottie Wright and Annie L. Thomas. We were quite impressed by the doorman—dear old Lewis Wise.

We successfully completed our trans-Atlantic tour and landed at LaGuardia Field, New York on a warm spring day. Being quite hungry we dined at a little out-of-the-way restaurant operated by Gwen Ligon and Mary Britt. Naturally, here we heard much about the whereabouts of the Class of '47.

Rosetta Abrams was superintendent of a girls' reformatory in Harlem; Rezelia Walker was assistant to Adam Clayton Powell, Jr.; Robert Barnes was a German professor at Booker T. Washington High School and Inez McAllister was manager of the New York Yankees. After talking for some time we went to a show where we saw Lorena McBroom, Loretta McGlone and Margaret McLean, now known as the famous "Merry Macs". We also saw Katherine Dunham's dance group featuring Margaret Bizzell, Mary Beasley, Hattie Booker, Elsie Hicks, Queenie Howard and Elberta Hunter.

When we reached Mae's apartment a group of Shawites came up led, of course, by the energetic and babbling socialite, Waltena Pennix, who suggested that we go out to the Zanzibar which is now under the supervision of Mary Gannaway. As we walked in, we heard the ole familiar strains of "Stardust". Should have known that no one else could play it like that but John Debnam. He and his "Nite Hawks" were playing to a packed house every night. Of course his singing star, Hellene Daye, added much to the night's entertainment. While we were at Mary's club, a flash came by radio that Ida Weatherford had just walked across the Atlantic City Boardwalk with the title "Miss Bronze America, 1957". We wondered where we would spend the night but our fears were soon downed by the appearance of Eugene Turner, owner of Hotel Shaw. Hanging on his arm and chattering like a magpie was his wife, the former Frankie Baird.

Eleanor Stokes was over from Hackensack where she was spending her vacation after divorcing her third husband, McTodd. She told us that she had just heard from Rose Price who was vacationing in Cuba with her husband, Charles England.

We find now that Margaret Teele is living in D. C. serving in an advisory capacity to Walter Alston who is head of the Federal Housing Projects. Annie Louise Hilliard is at Dew Drop Inn owned by Thomas Boykin.

Ruby Nelson and Annie Boone are quite the celebrities these days since the recent publication of their revised edition of "Modern Rules of Pinocle." Lucille Brown and Dorette Daniels are working on their doctorates at Columbia and Betty Alston has a cute little dress shop in Raleigh. Georgia Bishop and Thelma Knight, though married to Danny and Edmund Cheek, are still together. They own a chicken farm in Baltimore.

Remember reading about this new synthetic rubber? Well, it's coming from the rubber plantation of Henry Leak. Associated with him are Janie Lee, Rosa Lee, and Florence Lee. Margaret Kemmer and Mary Joyner have a florist shop in Raleigh and Inez Crump is playing two piano numbers in Twentieth Century Fox' Production of "Hear Me, Honey". Mabel Fulton has a modeling agency and Lindsey Dillard, Estella Banks, Ruth Andrews and Sara Watkins own a trailer camp. Gwendolyn Grady and Willie Mae Fuller are teaching at Saint Augustine's College while Nefferitte Fisher, Eula Faulcon and James Boykin are running a dry-cleaning service for Shaw U.

Melba Boykin is staff surgeon at Freedman's Hospital in D. C. Daisy Rice Boykin and Ernestine Lewis are collaborating on a new book called Modern Methods of Child Care.

Virginia Raiford Barfield and Mattie Gibson are teaching at dear ole Shaw. Lucretia and Vernelle Hardy and Ardelle Henry are co-managers of "The Home of Lovely Hairstyles" in Philadelphia. Bertie Jenkins and Annie Carl Jones are now matrons of dear ole Shaw Hall and Roberta Raiford is dietitian at Bennett.

Edith Tucker, Enzelee Stephens and Bernestine Walker manage a boarding school for children three to twelve years of age. Janie Ruth Walker coaches the girls' basketball team at Fayetteville State and Thomas Kee is language instructor at Howard.

Just now, however, the center of attraction for the whole nation is Evelyn Wright Crews, the lovely mother of boy quintuplets.

*All through your school years,
I'll watch with good cheers,
The progress of your education,
I'll provide good light,
For your studies at night,
From the start until your graduation.*

*As you leave your school days,
There'll be hundreds of ways,
I'll carry on in your chosen profession
So, for us, it's not goodbye,
'Cause in the future I'll try,
To continue my cooperation.*
